Whether you attended one of the first three outdoor workshops or not, see how trees responded to pruning cuts made three and five years ago. This is the best way to learn pruning by seeing for yourself how structure is improved with selected pruning cuts in the right position. And this time, Mark Chisholm will show us how to efficiently reach the right place; that is the edge of the tree crown. This is the program where you will see trees being pruned and provide input. You will see and touch the latest arborist's gear allowing you to tackle any job efficiently and effectively. Active participation is expected of attendees. There is ample time to evaluate trees we pruned during the last several years and discuss their response. Additional trees of various sizes will be pruned in the field.

Featured Speakers:

Brian Kempf, Visalia, CA

Dr. Ed Gilman, Gainesville, FL

Mark Chisholm, Jackson, NJ
